GVI Clinical Development Solutions and MedNet Solutions Enter Into Collaboration Agreement

Companies to Collaborate on Large Scale North American Cardiovascular Trial

WINNIPEG, MB – June 10, 2010 – GVI Clinical Development Solutions Inc. (CDS), an innovative CRO headquartered in Winnipeg, Canada and Minnetonka, Minnesota based MedNet Solutions Inc., a global life sciences technology solutions company specializing in clinical study management systems, announce today the signing of a collaboration agreement that will increase the depth of service available to their clients.

The collaboration will begin with work on a large North American cardiovascular clinical trial projected to start in the fall of 2010 with future projects to follow. The collaboration will bring together MedNet's proven web-based eClinical solutions that deliver comprehensive electronic data capture, clinical trial management, and clinical data management functionality with the trial execution, strategic consulting, clinical trial planning, quality assurance and training, regulatory affairs, and pharmacovigilance capabilities of the CDS team.

“We are excited to provide our clients with MedNet's leading eClinical solutions. This agreement emphasizes CDS' mission to provide high quality service and solutions to maximize our clients' time and capital”, commented Jan-Ake Westin, President of CDS.

John M. (Rob) Robertson, MedNet Solutions' President and CEO added, “Collaboration with CDS is a great fit for MedNet because of our similar entrepreneurial mindset and approach. This agreement gives us the ability to provide our clients with the additional services they may need in the conduct of their clinical trials.”

CDS and MedNet will be at DIA's 46th Annual Meeting in Washington, DC, June 13-17. MedNet can be found at Booth 1427 in the exhibit area. Prearranged meetings can be organized by contacting either Dirk Nelson at MedNet (763-258-2735) or Michael Coutts at CDS (204-477-7597).
